DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-3, 5, 6, 8, 10, 11, 14-16, 27, 28, 37-43, 45-47 and 55-68
2. Claims 21 and 24 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 29-36 are objected because of the last part of the claim, specifically, "said groups crosslink at a temperature is at least about 20 Celcius greater than the melt temperature of the liquid crystalline polymer". Examiner suggests placing a "that" in front of "is".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 19, 20, 22, 23, 25, 26, and 48-53 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shaw et al. (5,125,138) in view of Schoenfeld et al. (6,180,025) further in view of St. Lawrence et al (5,571,609)

Regarding Claims, 19, 20, 22, 23, 25, 26, and 48-53, Shaw et al. disclose a miniaturized monolithic multi-layer capacitor and apparatus and method for making same where in Figs. 1 and 4a, it is polymer dielectric layers 16 disposed on conductive layers 15. Shaw et al. fail to disclose the dielectric polymer layer to be crosslinkable liquid crystalline polymer of required group and the required fibrous web/particulate filler form of the dielectric configuration. However, Schoenfeld et al. disclose infra-red reflecting colorants where in columns 2, 5 and 6 and in claims 1, 2, 3, 9, 10, 11 and 12, the required crosslinkable liquid crystalline polymer comprising phenyl group is disclosed. Furthermore, St. Lawrence et al. disclose a polybutadiene and polyisoprene based thermosetting compositions and method of manufacture thereof where in Fig. 2, the required fibrous web form of the dielectric structure is disclosed.

Regarding Claims 2, 11, 16, 20, 28 and 38, the layer 13 in Shaw et al. is copper.

Regarding Claims 3, 5, 50 and 51, dielectric layer of St Lawrence, could be both flowable or non-flowable when crosslinked as disclosed in column 2 and in columns 36 and 37.

Regarding Claims 6, 37 and 45, Shaw et al. disclose a multi-layer structure with and conductive layer of copper.

It would have been obvious to one of having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include the required crosslinkable liquid crystal polymer of phenyl group type in Shaw et al. as taught by Schoenfeld et al. in order to have a multi-layer circuit structure with increased reliability.
